the 1990s, the number of people in the UK who are aged 65 and over has increased by 1.5 million, and the number of people aged 75 and over has increased by 1 million (Office for National Statistics 1999). The number of people aged 85 and over has increased by 0.5 million.

There is a growing awareness of the need to develop services to meet the needs of the ageing population. The Department of Health (1999) has published a strategy for ageing, which sets out the government's commitment to improve the lives of older people. The strategy is based on the following principles: older people should be able to live independently, safely and comfortably; older people should be able to participate in the community; and older people should be able to access the services they need.

*It sparks
 Deep in the brain's recesses.
 Smoulders then almost dies.
 Igniting again
 In sharper silhouette
 Forming images
 On the negatives of the mind.
 Submerged into a pit
 Of ever-rambling thoughts,
 Its heartbeat quickens
 Magnifying the images into Developed IDEAS.*

*Intensifying in strength,
 It spreads throughout the body
 Activating DESIRES.
 Desires to create a song
 To perfect the body
 To expand the mind
 To make a dollar.*

*Flaming and swelling
It immerses
The entire body into
TOTAL INVOLVEMENT.
Expanding
Through expression
You can't stop it.
It seeps into the soul.
Building and broadening
People who choose
Individuality over
Group carbon copies.
It's got us.

BELOW—Reigning over Homecoming '69 are Dana Shults and Keith Kutzler with court Jan Young, John Florchak, Sandy Smead, Keith Kahl, Dan Steuer and Sandy Webb.

FAR LEFT—"We Ain't Lion, Bulldogs are Great" captured the Best Float Award for the class of 1970.

Fire up for Victory chanted by CP students cheering the burning of Indians sparked Homecoming '69. As the blazing embers died away, the human snake uncoiled itself around the square and back again to the football field where the Myer's Mob defeated the Elite Eleven in the Powder Puff game.

In the actual game, half time found the Bulldogs locked in a scoreless tie. After the crowning of Queen Dana Shults and the awarding of Best Float to the seniors, the Bulldogs failed to maintain their resistance allowing Portage to score twice in the fourth quarter.

Despite the defeat, spirits were not dampened as students danced to the sounds of "The Story" while Mr. Football, Keith Kutzler and Queen Dana Shults reigned over "Autumn Leaves."

Students, Faculty co-operated to present CPHS's first joint performance

"The Man Who Came To Dinner". Both on stage and behind the scenes, students and teachers worked together with apparent success. Aside from being a box-office hit, faculty members agreed that the play was a success in that by working together toward a common goal, both teachers and students gained a better understanding of one another. Despite the fact that rehearsal did take up a large portion of their leisure time, the teachers felt that they had had a lot of fun doing the play.

Spotlighted in the production was Principal Roger Childress who characterized Sheridan Whiteside, a world renowned author and lecturer. Whiteside became stranded in a small mid-west town with a broken hip. From his wheel chair, the arrogant executive dominated his host's household with his selfish demands, radio broadcasts, and foreign visitors who added unexpected problems.

ABOVE—"Damn, damn, damn!" shouts Whiteside as he's plagued by another broken hip as the curtain falls.

RIGHT—In one of her fits of anger, Maggie (Miss Jan Anderson) gives her boss Whiteside a piece of her mind.

FAR RIGHT—Whether sober or drunk, Bert Jefferson (Mr. Craig Myers), the town reporter proves to be a trial to Whiteside.

ABOVE—To remedy a love problem, Banjo (Mr. Al Castronovo) shuts Lorraine Sheldon (Miss Kathy McCain) in a coffin.

FAR LEFT—Back stage, Miss Katherine Swartz and Miss Drucilla Stillwagon spend five hours on Mr. Childress' make up.

Mara, Armando seeking new adventures bid Chile and Venezuela adios then settled in Crown Point. Their dual objective was to observe American customs and to relate their culture to that of the United States.

The Venezuelan, Armando Colmenares, was welcomed by the Dr. Richard Nichols family. During Christmas vacation, Armando toured Chicago and pronounced it impressive. Upon returning home, he plans to enter chemical engineering.

Mara Sanchez Romain from Chile resided with the Robert Cartmell family. A surprise birthday party was one of the events that highlighted her stay. She plans to continue her education in medicine.

Being selected as the AFS Summer Program Student was an unforgettable experience for John Reynolds. He visited Mara's native Chile where he boarded with the Jonge Castro family during his ten week sojourn.

BELOW—Trying to keep from falling, Cathy Hansen and Pam Hickman support one another on the rough, snow-covered ice.

Maxi coats, woolen scarfs and high leather boots fought frostbite as sub-zero temperatures gripped the Hub area. Unfortunately, the fashions weren't protective enough to immunize students from the common cold. Plagued with fever, sneezes, sore throats, headaches, and that blah feeling, stricken victims combatted their illnesses with boxes of Kleenex, cough drops, vaporizers and aspirin.

Record snowfall and mini temperatures couldn't stop students from participating in winter sports. Hockey played its way into the lives of most guys, while girls settled for skating and tobogganing.

Highlights of the winter activities included the crowning of the SSS-HI-Y Sweetheart and Holly Hop Queen. "Somewhere over the Rainbow" was the scene for the coronation of Debbie Childers as HI-Y Sweetheart while Donna Steuer reigned as queen of the Holly Hop.

"Fever! We're hot!

We cannot be stopped!

We've got the Fever! We're hot!

We cannot be stopped! We've got the Fever!" chanted by optimistic fans launched '70 Spirit Week into action. Focusing their attention on cheering the Bulldogs to another sectional crown, the Booster Club began their spirit revival by sponsoring the Basketball Bounce. Spotlit at the dance were Mr. Basketball John Mummery and his queen Vicky Hoyt.

Over the weekend sectional enthusiasts spent hours decorating their class halls for Spirit Week Hall competition. Though judging took place on Monday, heated disputes between class critics over the possible hall winner, legality of the seniors borrowed stop sign, and the identity of the Secret Bulldog generated pep throughout the week.

On Red and White Day, revival week climaxed with fans jammed in the gym where awards were presented to seniors for best Spirit Hall and Joey Kremer for uncovering Secret Bulldog Kevin Naum.

Record downpours drenched the region with eight inches of rain in three days.

Backing up drainage systems, water flooded basements and streets causing inconvenience and delays. After the rain stopped, surprised students found themselves wading instead of walking home from school.

As the weather grew warmer, Spring fever infected students. Bike riding and kite flying controlled after school hours, while club members rushed to complete their responsibilities.

Buried in last minute term papers and oral reports conscientious students lived in local libraries. With the opening of a new reference library on Route 30, research was not such a difficult task. This convenience enabled writers to concentrate valuable time on the actual make-up of the paper.

ABOVE—At the May Breakfast, outgoing President Martha Everett inducts Debbie Childers as next year's President.

ABOVE TOP—Crossing the natural barrier that emerged while they were in school Elizabeth Rothermell and Susy Reis cringe at the temperature of the water.

RIGHT—Slushing through the cold water John Rothermell wonders what mommy will say when he gets home from school.

RIGHT—As part of the induction ceremony, Jan Young lights her candle from the National Honor Society torch.

Nights spotlighted by dramas and dances entertained students in leisure time. By attending extra-curricular events sponsored by clubs students enjoyed a variety of activities including a Purple Haze coffeehouse, several dances and the A Cappella operetta "Trial By Jury".

Towards the closing of school, students crammed after school hours by participating in end-of-the-year parties and ceremonies.

Saturdays found friends loafing in the Pool Hall talking over a coke. Saturday nights students met at the Purple Haze to dance to the sounds of local rock groups. With opening of the Wild Goose at the Scherwood Club, students met new people from different schools.

BELOW RIGHT—On leave from Vietnam, soldiers take time to march for the retarded.

BELOW—During the June 13 Hike for the Retarded, tired Joey Kramer gets a little assistance from Lou Gergely.

Man walked on the moon while fighting wars against poverty, pollution, and aggression on the earth. At Crown Point High School, he organized himself into an Earth Day committee to combat pollution in his home area.

Not only concerned with pollution, man adopted marching as the latest American sport. He marched for US involvement in Vietnam. He marched for the hungry in Chicago and for the retarded in Crown Point.

However, for three days in April, man ignored the problems stressed by the marches. He was concerned only with the dangers facing the astronaut team of Lovell, Swigert and Haise. Surviving the ordeal, man returned to his world of pollution, poverty and aggression.

LEFT—Assisting CP students in their Earth Day, clean-up campaign, merchants put their trash out to be collected.

RIGHT—Desperately asking for volunteers to provide overnight lodging for out of town sunshiners, president Martha Everett tries to get everyone to cooperate.

LEFT—A captive female audience listens as Dr. Dale Baughman from Indiana State University addresses the morning session.

2550 Sunshine girls invaded Crown Point for State Convention. Day's activities began with the morning program which featured Dr. Dale Baughman from Indiana State University.

Lunch hour offered an array of entertainment. Some girls visited a wig consultant and a psychedelic flower show, while others attended a dance, coffeehouse, and the movie "David".

Initiation of state officers, which included Crown Point's State President Sandy Plumb, and the awarding of the nurse's scholarships, highlighted the afternoon business meeting.

Closing the convention, the variety show entertained the Sunshiners with various skits portraying different types of girls.

Spring's flash flood transformed practice field into arena for mud-sliding competition. Not only testing the contestants' distance sliding abilities on either their feet or stomach, this new sport challenged student endurance of mud-filled eyes, ears, nose, and mouth. At the completion of the event trophies were presented to winners Susie Mees, Carol Shrum, Don Campbell and John Damouth, while showers were awarded to all mud-sliders courtesy of the physical education department.

Round robin competition in basketball, volleyball and table tennis stressed teamwork and sportsmanship for non-varsity athletes. Crab soccer pitted class against class in fierce competition. Sophomores captured the crab soccer crown fourth hour while seniors reigned as fifth hour champs.

BELOW—Initiated by a four day flood, impromptu noon recreation ends in a mudsliding victory for Don Campbell.

"Bouquet de Fleurs" blossomed despite chilly temperatures for the 1970 Prom.

Juniors overcame a lack of funds to create a realistic garden complete with wrought iron chairs, white picket fence and miniature fountain. Tissue paper flowers in tiny clay pots adorned the yellow and green covered tables.

A surprisingly large crowd of over 300 students and guests awaited the crowning of prom queen and king at 10:45. Keith Kahl and Karen Hortyk were voted by the senior class to reign over the festivities.

Sunday found most prom-goers at the Dunes. Others invaded Turkey Run, the Shades, Starved Rock, or Brookfield Zoo. All arrived at school Monday sunburned, sleepy, and broke.

LEFT—In a garden of flowers queen and king, Karen Hortyk and Keith Kahl, receive approving applause from prom-goers.

Determined seniors accomplished twelve year goal by accepting hard earned diplomas on June 4. As the first class to complete the three year high school curriculum, the Seniors of 1970, consisting of 394 members, became the largest class to be graduated from Crown Point.

Throughout their three year high school experience, the Seniors set precedence by being the first to order college style class rings, changing the location of the Prom and winning both Homecoming Float and Spirit Hall awards.

Climaxing their high school career, graduates attended the open houses of their classmates, gorging themselves with the ham and potato salad.

ABOVE—Celebrating the end of their high school career and the beginning of senior week, Terry Backensto and Don Burns circle the drive in the senior parade.

RIGHT—Trying to get a good start on that summer tan, San-dee Savich and Athel Micka soak up the sun at the Hub Pool.

SCHOOL ENDED

Hunting jobs, invading beaches monopolized energies of CP students. Lazy days of sleeping late and lying in the afternoon sun wasted away the eight hours normally spent at school.

For some, relaxation didn't begin until noon after the dismissal of summer school. Others were forced to wait until the weekend to enjoy their vacation of barefeet and drippy ice cream cones.

Climaxing summer activities, the Lake County Fair signaled the beginning of another school year.

ABOVE—On the opening day of summer school, students ask Assistant Principal Paul Georgas questions concerning school regulations.

Finding answers to the dress code problem proved major accomplishment of the Student Council. From the work done by a committee consisting of a 3-3-6 combination of parents, faculty, and students selected at random, the council obtained a lenient dress code and a waiver, which released the student from all code restrictions.

Major social event sponsored by the council was the second annual pop concert which featured the Boxtops. They also co-sponsored the Holly Hop.

For the first time this year Crown Point was represented in the Presidential Classroom for Young Americans in Washington, D.C. Sponsored by the council, Sandy Smead along with seniors from all over the U.S. and five foreign countries attended seminars dealing with all phases of government.

male and female character roles and backstage helpers were presented for the first time this year. "Nice Knees" contest, also a first for the club, provided money which was donated to the European Band and Choir fund.

Elected by the faculty on the basis of leadership, scholarship, service, and patriotism, Sandy Smead served as this year's DAR Good Citizen.

Marlene Feigle won the competition for the Betty Crocker Homememaker of Tomorrow. She received a scholarship for attaining the highest score on a written examination and written aptitude test.

Ranking in the upper one percent of all graduating seniors that took the National Merit Scholarship test, Debbie McPhee and Bob Quade were recognized as this year's National Merit Semifinalists.

While celebrating Marcus Tullius' entering manhood, Latin students gorged on salads, chicken, and strawberry tarts. The Latin Club also attended the JCL convention at Ball State where they pledged $50 to the future Latin teachers fund.

French Club had a taste of French culture when they saw the "Jacques Brel is Alive and Well and Living in Paris" musical in Chicago. With the advent of winter they practiced singing carols before trying them out on the public. In May the club picnicked at Marquette Park.

Spanish Club celebrated the year with a Spanish Fiesta in the cafeteria. There they savored Spanish delicacies and had festive entertainment.

FFA members used the finished greenhouse to promote interest in agriculture.

Last summer the chapter did work on the landscaping of the Hub Pool. Profits from the farming of a 16 acre plot on South Main Street were used to buy needed equipment such as a sprayer and fertilizers. They also sponsored the annual Parent and Son Recognition Banquet.

Members of FTA worked in the concession stand at basketball games to earn money for a scholarship, which was presented to the most deserving senior member at the end of the year. Facts about being a teacher were learned at club meetings and through special guest speakers.

Winning first place honors for their car in the Homecoming Parade was only the start in a group of successful activities for the FFA this past year. The club also sponsored a faculty tea at Christmas. Girls in Home Ec classes put a lot of effort into sewing clothes which they modeled in the spring style show presented by the FFA.

Biology enthusiasts dissected an alligator for a unique experience in their extra curricular activity. Bi-monthly meetings provided time for the club to observe other animals, test blood-types, and plan field trips.

WCAE-TV broadcasting from Lake Central High brought the Calumet area schools closer through students' reports on current events. Gaining experience in television broadcasting CPHS students participated in two WCAE news programs. Their shows consisted of fifteen minutes of news and fifteen minutes of entertainment.

In aiding CP teachers by operating the school's film projectors, tape recorders and record players Audio-Visual Club members gained mechanical experience in operating machines. Students cleaned and repaired machinery and organized a film schedule to reassure the showing of a film on the proper date.

Paper plane contest conducted by Flying Club tested the ability to maneuver aircraft. The contest along with the collection of dues provided enough money for members to go on flights over the Calumet region.

Chess Club attempted to encourage student participation in the strategies of chess. With a growth in membership the students were able to play four handed chess for the first time this year. Tournaments were conducted between club members including the annual open tournament.

Awards were given at the third Annual Art Show for outstanding paintings and other works. In order to see the effects of art in publicity the club also took a trip to White's Advertising.

Powderpuff football between GAA members signaled the start of Homecoming Myer's Mob made-up of sophomores and junior girls fought Keller's Elite Eleven composed of seniors and some sophomores. Victorious in their effort the Myers' Mob shut out the Elite Eleven by a score of 16-0.

Major winter project organized by the club included a coffeehouse at the Purple Haze. A new activity introduced by the club this year was a new end of the year picnic and swim party.

Girls interested in library work gained practical experience by aiding the librarians. By helping students find library books the student librarians became better acquainted with the Dewey Decimal System.

Attending seminars at Indiana University and Indiana State University, Girls' and Boys' Staters respectively experienced first hand how state governments operate.

Notre Dame football team changed into their basketball outfits and conquered the CPHS faculty 89-78. For the second year Lettermen sponsored a faculty-pro game which has lead the faculty to defeat both times. Lettermen also promoted athletics by selling programs at games and by unwinding the traditional rope at basketball games to keep the crowds off the court. Standards for being a Letterman were raised this year as a result of the revised constitution.

Hi-Y members along with the SSS helped fight poverty in the Appalachian Mountains by collecting old clothes from Crown Point families. Hi-Y also co-sponsored the SSS-Hi-Y Semiformal with the Sunshine Society. From each class the Hi-Y members elected one girl to run for queen. Junior Debbie Childers was crowned SSS-Hi-Y Sweetheart.

"Go, Go, Go, Go!"

roared excited fans as the Bulldogs charged through the victory hoop before the game.

Screaming until their throats felt as if they were going to burst, and clapping until their hands turned blood red was the job of loyal booster block members.

Wearing red and white capes, the block with the assistance of cadettes in red sweaters arranged themselves to form "CP" and "Go".

Big projects for the club included sponsoring the Homecoming festivities, the second annual Basketball Bounce and Spirit Week.

Families contributed useful old clothes to help make SSS-High-Y Bundle Day a success. The purpose of this day was to help poverty stricken people in the Appalachian Mountains by supplying them with needed clothes.

Most exciting of all their activities was hosting the State Convention. Providing adequate housing and a suitable program for these girls presented a problem at first, but with careful planning a solution was worked out by the time they arrived.

Ideal ladies were selected by most of the girls at the beginning of the year. Without revealing their identity they sent these ladies gifts or cards on holidays. At the end of the year an Ideal Lady Tea was given where the ladies found out the identity of their SSS girl.

Competition in the World Music Festival highlighted European Tour for the members of the CPHS Music Department. The Bulldog band was selected as one of the six organizations to represent the United States. Besides the festival in Kerkrade, Holland, the choir and band staged concerts in fourteen European countries including Belgium, Italy, England, and Germany.

Choral clubs contributed their proceeds from all of their concerts to help pay for the trip. They co-sponsored a chili supper and bake sales with the band. Other activities included the Choral Festival at Griffith High and the solo competition at Butler University.

Pop music was the specialty of the Swing Choir. Taking part in concerts with the other choral groups and the band, the Swing Choir added a touch of today's sounds to the music program.

The first Inkings of the year was distributed to students on the first day of school. This six page paper contained a list directing students to roll rooms and a map of the school.

Newspaper staffers published thirty issues during the year, most of which were sold to CP students, while the rest were exchanged with other schools and businesses.

Workshops for Inkings editors were held in Muncie at Ball State University. This summer's training proved beneficial when the editors, under the direction of Bev Ely, started their work.

Winning honors for superior achievement in their fields, honor students won admittance to select organizations. Twenty-five senior boys met scholastic achievement qualifications and participated as Junior Rotarians and Kiwanians. The boys, chosen by the administration, attended weekly meetings for one month, and at their last meeting gave speeches about their organizations.

Last spring the faculty elected high ranking juniors to become members of the National Honor Society for the coming year on the basis of their scholastic ability. As one of the more active organizations, the society sponsored bake sales and parties for honor roll students and former members in addition to a fund raising drive for WCAE-TV.

Quill and Scroll members were chosen for their work on either the Excalibur or Inklings staff.

Creative Writing, a new course, challenged students to express themselves imaginatively. Personal experiences, sensitivity lessons, and character sketches served as appropriate valves for the flow of creativity.

Students of English ventured into a world of dangling participle phrases, character analyses, and plights of various literary heroes.

Term papers, book reports, and speech deliveries were a large part of English. Literature students explored such masterpieces as "The Lottery", "The Canterbury Tales", "The Black Cat", and Dante's "Inferno".

Students in Miss Alice Lauterbur's senior English classes designed and made Christmas cards. Cards were created for a famous person as an extra credit project. Later in the year they also put the story of "Beowulf" to music for an in class performance.

Mathematics teachers attempted to make students aware that mathematics involved many fields other than arithmetic. Geometry students fumbled with various theorems, postulates, and corollaries in trying to improve their logic and reasoning abilities.

Advanced algebra students toiled over term papers. Senior math pupils worked with sines and cosines, one of the more important phases of trigonometry.

Exploring social, economic, and political systems of the past and present societies, and making predictions for the future became the task of every social science student.

U.S. History students began their studies with the discovery of the new world. Performing a chorus of Negro spirituals while dressed in appropriate costume helped supplement daily classroom routine.

Psychology students stuck out their tongues to test taste patterns, sponsored palm reading speakers, and visited a local fortune teller to increase their knowledge of human behavior.

World Affairs students constructed a United Nations and watched daily T.V. news broadcasts.

Biology students discovered a microscopic world populated largely by tiny amoebae, paramecium, and other unicellular beings. Students assimilated the digestion, respiration, and reproduction processes of various types of life—plant and animal alike.

Chemistry students performed solubility tests. Test tubes and glowing bunsen burners became a part of their every day life. Students in Mr. Conard's chemistry classes witnessed the launching of a man-made rocket in the schools rear parking lot. Formulas, periodic tables, and weights and measurements confused and often annoyed chemistry students.

Students in general biology classes followed much the same program as those in biology. Their studies also revolved around the study of life.

Speed, efficiency expanded the vocabulary used in typing classes. Learning the home row keys was only the first task students conquered. Typing pupils typed manuscripts, letters in various styles and punctuation, and business forms. Timed writings constantly challenged their speed and patience.

Shorthand students also mastered speed and efficiency. Constantly striving to improve their skills, they drilled daily working on various exercises and taking dictation.

Classes in record keeping and book-keeping taught students the mathematics and correct procedures necessary to record and balance a business account.

Telephone skits performed on telephones provided by Illinois Bell provided students both fun and the knowledge of how to answer a telephone properly. Skits were written by students and performed in class.

Business English, a course first offered to students with a business curriculum this year, acquainted students with those words and terms used so frequently in the business world today.

Trips became more than relaxing vacations in new Advanced Health classes.

Students pondered the drug scene learning the pros and cons of drug use. Guest speakers from the Marona House in Gary stressed the many dangers involved.

The Advanced Health course was divided into three parts, each consisting of six weeks. The first part was concerned with driving safety. The second and third portions were concerned with drug use and sex education, respectively. Films and film strips, panel discussions and outside information supplemented text book readings.

Physical education girls went bicycle riding and learned to play pool at Family Billiards.

Boys spent time in circuit training, which consists of rope climbing, running laps, hurdle jumping and weight lifting. They also spent long hours in tumbling sessions, attempting to perfect forward rolls, one-legged knee bends, flips, and various other motions.

Traveling to see a Sara Lee Bakery, openly debating the changing morals of society, and the construction of a five tube radio were only a few of the projects undertaken this year by vocational education students.

Home Economics girls prepared and served a bridal shower buffet and decorated for the occasion. A unit in foreign foods was studied in foods classes. Sewing students brightened the faculty lunchroom by making new curtains for it.

Industrial Ed. classes, in conjunction with Mrs. Doris Dunn's "E" economics classes, made and sold CTH Christmas tree holders.

Economics students financed the project by selling stocks to fellow students. Plans were made by mechanical drawing students and carried out by the metal shop and welding classes, among others. The stands were available in colors of red, green, and black, and sold for $3.50.

Music students set NISBOVA awards as goals for the year. Concert band placed first while A Cappella choir took a second place.

"Trial by Jury", a Gilbert and Sullivan operetta was presented by the A Cappella choir. The Choristers participated in the Music Festival at Griffith where seven choirs sang in harmony under the direction of the widely known conductor, Maynard Klein.

Practice brought near perfection to band members. On brisk fall and spring afternoons band students could be heard drilling back and forth on the baseball field.

In contest competition, first places were taken at the State Contest in Columbia City and the Marching contest at Wheeling.

Agriculture and art classes became much more involved in community activities by taking an active interest in the Lake County Fair, participating in Field trips and working on the landscaping of the Hub Pool.

With the beginning of school, agriculture boys channeled their efforts towards completing the greenhouse. Through a do-it-yourself program, ag students learned the fundamentals in construction, electrical work, and heating.

Units in expressionism, picture composition and art appreciation, composed the areas covered by art enthusiasts.

Craft students worked in copper enameling. They designed and made cuff links, tie bars, and earrings. Before the Christmas holidays, art students decorated the murals in the music wing lobby.

Preparing for NCA administrative efforts focused on evaluating aspects of the school program in its relationship to the community. As coordinator of the North Central evaluation program, Principal Roger Childress arranged teachers' schedules so that all members of a department had the same preparation hour. He also participated in four NCA visitation committees and attended a four day convention in Chicago on the Legal and Educational Aspects of the Drug Problem.

As student council co-sponsor, Assistant Principal Paul Georgas was involved in finding a workable solution to the dress code controversy.

With reorganization, the school board made a detailed curriculum study of the new school corporation. From their efforts, a new advanced health course will be offered at the high school next year.

Efficient running of school facilities depended upon services of the special staff.

Fighting against a ratio of 141 to 1, janitors struggled to keep their section of the school clean and in working order. Facing similar odds were the cooks who, in cramped quarters, prepared a variety of menus. Through working directly with students, staff members also provided attendance, audio-visual, bookstore and library services.

Cross country team paced themselves on to an improved record of six wins, seven losses in a season coached by Mr. Bob Conard. Perseverance on the runner's part and encouragement from Coach Conard helped the team to win later meets with Lake Central, Griffith, and Lowell.

Peak excitement came at the sectional meet where Crown Point placed second out of a field of nineteen schools.

Eight members, two of whom were sophomores Craig Banser and Jim Kacmar, earned major letters. Consistently placing well were Dan Brewer and all-conference Gordon Ayres.

Unlikely breaks and injuries slowed footballers drive to victory.

Injuries to two quarterbacks provided a minor setback. After the first two games the team began to function against Calumet by handing them a 20-6 loss. Team spirit carried over the next two games and appeared again when Lew Wallace received its first loss from the Bulldogs. The team clamped the season shut with a 4-5 standing. The reserves fared better with a 5-2-1 record.

Keith Kutzler, Ed Burton, and Dan Steuer co-captained the varsity team. Keith Kahl, voted most valuable player, and Don Campbell, selected as an all-conference defensive tackle, also aided in the team's endeavor.

Rebuilding season for netmen proved to be an outstanding success this year.

With six untested players and one veteran, Coach Bob Sindt, in his first tennis coaching season, developed the top team in the Lake County Tennis Association.

Jim Pringle and George Thalmann caught second place in doubles at conference play while sophomore Bob Shrader, in addition to being the first singles man in the conference, captured the sectional and regional crowns.

Senior doubles team Dale Gergley and Dave Bartholomew supplied the extra impetus which gave Crown Point the impressive post of a 9-2 season.

Capturing Sectionals proved wrestlers power despite their 5-8-1 season record.

Major contributions in the tourney came from Rick Garner, Denny Miller, and Dave Nasidka who won championships in their weight classes. Mike Walker received a second while Don Campbell, Ron Karshner and Jon Dunn placed third.

Lacking wrestlers in the lighter classes, the Bulldogs suffered several losses. Many of the meets ended with close scores including one with Calumet, always a top contender, who defeated Crown Point, 24-22. Coach Carl Carnahan, however, felt that he had a good tourney team. The reserve team also showed strength with their 7-4-1 record.

Showing Bulldog board power, Ed Kednay comes down with the rebound.

Toughened schedule added depth to basketball team, but dropped season's record to 14-8. Contemplating the late season I.H.S.A.A. and conference competition, Head Coach Harry Allison, arranged pre-holiday games with E.C. Washington, Michigan City, and E.C. Roosevelt. At Hammond High, CP successfully defended their title as Holiday Tourney Champs.

Prevailing throughout the remainder of the season, the team earned the Co-Calumet Conference title in the final year of its existence.

During sectional play, the favored Hebron Hawks bowed to the Bulldogs. Success, however, was short-lived as Lake Central downed CP in the championship by a score of 48-50.

Featuring two of the toughest guards in the area, CP had a strong front five with several dependable alternates. Team effort was hampered by inconsistent rebounding and to a slight degree by lack of mental preparation. Jim Liss and Ed Kednay were selected to the all-conference team.

Team work by Mummery and Tearney momentarily stops the press of state champs E. C. Roosevelt.

Successful season for the gymnasts ended in sectional loss by only one point.

Jimtown, previously beaten by CP, retaliated with a 110-109 victory in sectional competition. Individual talent flourished at the state championship meet where CP seized a fifth place rating.

Headed by Coach Jim Everroad and Coach Mike McPhearson who specialized in the reserve area, the gymnasts exploded through an almost unblemished season. Restrained only by Elkhart, Reavis, and Rich Central, the team subdued all other seasonal opponents. Having few strong rivals in this area, CP had to look for competition out-of-state, primarily from Illinois.

Late start permitted

C.P.'s girls gymnastics squad to have onemeet this year.

In the meet with Merrillville, Crown Point was edged out in spite of Sue Johnson's first on the balance beam and Bette Beaham's first in vaulting. Participating also in the district competition, the team placed sixth out of twelve. Scores were based on an advanced meet and a compulsory one, at which Bette Beaham tied for first, Lynn Childress for third and Diane Kesler for sixth on the uneven bars.

Ineligibility and a lack of experienced girls handicapped the team effort, although practicing overtime and viewing films at Valparaiso University improved their routines.

ABOVE—To display the form necessary in a floor exercise routine, Sue Young demonstrates a stag handstand.

Hardballers ended season's play by winning nine of their last eleven games.

Entering the sectional with a 5-6-1 record, CP downed Lowell 6-1 and Hebron 4-3. In the championship game with Lake Central, the team came from behind with a two run rally in the sixth to defeat the Indians 3-2. A repeat performance at regionals gave CP a 5-1 victory over Noll. E.C. Washington ended the Bulldog winning streak in the final game.

Defense and pitching appeared as plus points in the season's summary due partly to Kevin Graper's fielding and Keith Kahl's pitching. Although hitting was generally a weakness, Bill Miller boosted his batting average with several well-timed hits in the sectionals.

On Junior Varsity, Robby Anderson had a record high batting average of .464. Three reserve games were rained out, so the Bullpups concluded their season with a 3-5 record.

Team strength lay in its depth and the varied talents of the coaching staff comprised of Coach Dick Stillwagon, Coach Bob Conard, and Coach Mike McPhearson. Consistency of the field events men plus the points contributed by the improved distance men made the difference in this season's record of 6-4.

LaPorte Invitational		22nd
Sectionals		4th

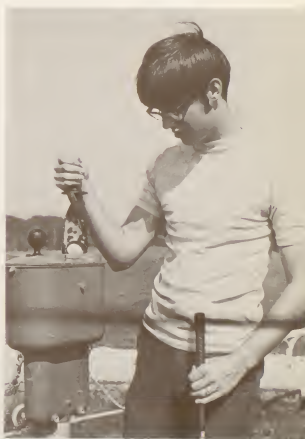

Wet weather stalled golf team causing match cancellations, limiting practices.

Despite the adverse weather conditions, the six varsity golfers usually shot in the low 40's for nine holes.

As sectional time drew near, competition for varsity positions increased. Dan Steuer, Kelly Tearney, John Florchak, Joe Koscielniak, Doug Mathers, and Keith Hitzman, participated in the sectionals at Pheasant Valley. Keith Hitzman, who shot an 82, did well considering the high wind factor. However, CP only managed to pull through with a fourth place.

Not quite up to par with last year's 11-2 record, the team ended the season 8-8 during Coach Mac Ruby's first season as golf coach.

Album

*Seeping into the soul,
It moves us
To respond to the feelings of others.
Through shared experiences,
We turn nameless faces into life-long friends.
In choosing individuality over group carbon copies,
We recognize the importance of People.
It moves us.
We feel it.
We live with FEVER.*

Advertising

*Sparked by the vehicle of advertising,
It tempts us to save or spend a dollar,
A dollar earned through useful labor.
Appealing to all our senses,
It activates DESIRES,
Desires that are satisfied by Merchants.
It drives us.
We yield to it.
We've got the FEVER.*

One a time-out for the Bullpups, coach Dick Webb tries to straighten out Pat Murray's defense on the baseline.

BELOW—Ad staff Debbie Brooks, Dionne Betcher, and Debbie Welsh schedule students for Saturday's ad shots.

BOTTOM—Drawing up a dummy sheet, Mary Doffin designs the Student Council spread.

June through June staff loafed and labored creating first color Excalibur.

In their effort to present the "same old things" in an original way, staffers designed a unique form of yearbook headlines. They also added colored pictures and ink to the book which gave it a new appearance.

2000 long hours were spent compiling Crown Point's largest yearbook consisting of 208 pages. As time ran short, work sessions stretched into weekends and holidays. The almost completely feminine staff even found themselves in 212-A at 6 a.m. working between yawns.

With the creative work on the book finished, the staff worked the month of June making out bills and planning the autograph dance.

LEFT—Ignoring the editor's threatening notice, Lynn Childress and Debbie Isaac stop work to examine a Lake Central year book.

Slowly but surely we made it—208 pages!

With a backbone of 9 determined workers, Excalibur '70 was created. It began with ideas—such crazy ideas as scheduling a 6 a.m. work session and using an 18-22-31 headline count. Gradually these ideas took form, activating the desire in you to create the best Excalibur ever. As deadlines approached, you sacrificed dates, sleep, and shopping sprees in order to finish a spread. For this dedication and total involvement, I thank you all, especially those who stuck by me until the last page was mailed.

For their understanding and help in a tense situation, I thank the "outsiders" Kathy Kennedy, Mr. Marion Kellum, Mr. Jim Sweeney, Mr. Bob Heintzelman and Mr. Ray Dobbs. You people turned many of my wishes into realities.

I'd like to extend a special thanks to Joe McColley our custodian for his patience in cleaning around our stacks of paper and pictures. For the most rewarding experience ever, I owe a debt of gratitude to Miss Nancy Kaczmarek. Miss K, I think the entire staff really had the FEVER.

Sandy Smead

*It dims.
Exhausted
From a year's Existence.
No longer feeding
On the fuel
From which it thrived,
It crumbles
Into a pile of
Smouldering ashes
Ashes of ideas—
Accomplished or Forgotten.*

*Drained of desire
It lies dormant
Unable to regain strength
Until sparked
By a new IDEA,
An idea that will activate
New DESIRES,
A desire that will immerse
The entire body into
TOTAL INVOLVEMENT,
Total involvement that Will mold the Total person.
Never changing
Like the images of a
Yellowed photograph,
It is timeless in age.
No one can escape its influence.*

*It touched us.
We touched it.*

We had the FEVER.
